

Tarpon Springs, FL (January 7, 2013) - Congressman Gus Bilirakis will hold a job fair on February 13 at St. Petersburg College's Tarpon Springs campus. The event will bring more than 30 employers, who will accept resumes and talk with potential employees. Fields represented include banking, law enforcement, education, retail, hospitality, technology, community services and healthcare.

“At a time when many residents in our community are still searching for meaningful employment, it is imperative that we connect those searching for jobs with business and employers who are hiring,” said Congressman Bilirakis. “By hosting this fair, we hope to help businesses find qualified candidates, while also getting more Floridians back to work.”

Jobseekers are requested to come prepared with their resume and to dress professionally. The event is free and open to the public. Those interested in attending can contact Congressman Bilirakis' district office at (727) 232-2921 for more information.
